Hey everyone. I hate to post filler right now, but so it goes. I wanted to take the time to really fine-tune the script for this next major story arc. To me, that's worth a skip.

It's going to be a complex arc with a large cast to manage. Nothing makes my work more frustrating for me than when I'm running out of script, so I spent this week focused on writing. In the long run, the comic should be better off for it.

Last week I did the "hourly comic challenge". Since it was relevant to my writing process, I collected it below to use as this week's filler.

Thank you for reading. Thank you for being patient. See you next week.
